General Incorporated Association

RISE-A (Revolutionary Innovation by Semiconductor Ecosystem for All industries)

Establishment registration completed on May 7, press release on July 16, base completion and full-scale activities starting in October.

“Create ecosystem to promote industry innovation by semiconductor which leads to strengthening Japan’s next generation competitiveness.”

- As an industrial developer, Mitsui Fudosan introduces its third industry support community, following LINK-J (Life Sciences) and cross U (Space).
- Create ecosystem that includes not only semiconductor industry in the narrow sense (supply side such as design/manufacturing), but also wide sense of semiconductor industry (supporter side such as users that utilize semiconductor)

Discussion Purpose Only

RISE-A is a General Incorporated Association aiming to build an ecosystem for industrial innovation utilizing semiconductors through the provision of spaces and opportunities.

Providing various functions to semiconductor suppliers, semiconductor users, and supporters to reduce the cost of information dissemination and collection, as well as networking, while enhancing efficiency.

Provision of opportunities
Community building
(events/networking)

Provision of spaces

- Enables members to share various information more easily, timely, and efficiently than ever before.
- By becoming a member, it becomes possible to casually and timely gain access to various information and networks.

Gain direct access to information and stakeholders that were previously out of reach, creating new opportunities for collaboration and innovation in the semiconductor field.
