Selling point
A sake made from yamahai-moto and developed for meat dishes. A robust sour flavor derived from yamahai-moto and slightly higher alcohol content means all the fatty content of meat dishes can be washed clean away. Combining it with meat dishes and rich sauce in particular, opens up a brand-new field.

Selling point
Using purple rice (known as an ancient strain), this sake is brewed using traditional kimoto-style starter culture. In stand-out bright red, it features a sharp and sour taste and a lower alcohol content, both of which synonymous with kimoto-style sake and allow it to easily match with various types of dishes.
