Blended and gleaming on your skin, this jewelry has a contradictory allure. Its quiet presence shines, luring others by sharply focusing their senses. Merely wearing it will give a woman courage and let her shine. This is jewelry to wear with a sense of fun, and a fine and discerning mind.

Ms. Matchiko Kusaura info@19un-neuf.com

We make works inspired by our travels around the world and the impressions left on us by all of the people, things and ideas that we encountered along the way. From 2012, we have been making dresses from hand-spun and hand-woven Indian «khadi"hadin «khadie have been making dresses from hand-spun and of that used in antique dresses from the Victorian era by Indian artisans.

Founded in 1977, Kuroda claims its heritage from the long history of the city of Kagawa, best known as the capital of glove making in Japan. We pay significant focus on constant innovation in styles and accommodating for the needs of our customers as well as current trends.

/ŭce macchia

www.ierib.com

Luce macchia is a «glass jewelry» brand. Glass, like humans, has both fragility and strength. It can awaken feelings of fear and beauty. Glass reflects light, landscape and phenomenon. When you wear glass, light appears on the skin as a stain, woven by colors and shadows. Luce Macchia traces that stain, adding the minimum image and design, to propose jewelry that evokes emotion.

in Different materials coming together harmonious fusion. Nothing added, nothing taken away. A whole greater than the sum of its parts. In 2011, that is the vision that led to the creation of Shunsuke Maeda's muku collection.

Blending in seamlessly and comfortably into your everyday life, remaining a faithful partner to its owner no matter how times may change. That is our wish for this collection.

Our scarves are designed by a French designer who lives in Japan and has previously worked for Christian Dior, together with an up-andcoming Japanese designer. The design uses the folding lines of origami (the Japanese art of paper folding) as a base motif combined with hand-painted traditional Japanese patterns. Our products are made from 100% silk, woven in Kyoto. High-quality silk scarves are irresistibly smooth and soft for a luxurious outfit.
