"I) Amount in currency" column
Enter the remuneration paid in currency during April, May, and June in the respective month columns. In the case of a bank transfer, etc., enter in the same manner. Commutation allowance, etc., as well as salary, are included in remuneration.

If the difference corresponding to a pay rise has been paid due to the pay rise being retroactive, enter the amount combined with such amount, and enter to that effect in the "R Remarks" column.

"J) Amount in kind" column
When benefits in kind such as meals, housing, and commuter tickets are provided during April, May, and June, enter such benefits after converting them into money, and with regard to meals and housing, enter the amount calculated according to the value on a prefecture-by-prefecture basis.

* The value was revised on April 1, 2012.

"K) Total" column
Enter the total amount of remuneration for each month. If the number of basis days of payment is less than seventeen days per month, enter in the column for the month and draw a horizontal line. As for short-term workers, however, enter the total amount for the months whose number of basis days of payment is more than fifteen.

* A short-term worker refers to a so-called part-time worker.

"L) Sum total of monthly remuneration for the months whose number of basis days of payment is not less than seventeen" column
Enter the sum total of remuneration for the months whose number of basis days of payment is not less than seventeen. As for short-term workers, if the number of basis days of payment is less than seventeen for all the months, enter the sum total of remuneration for the months whose number of basis days of payment is not less than fifteen.

"E) F) Amount of previous standard monthly remuneration column"
 The amount of standard monthly remuneration of a person insured that has been specified at the time of submission of the Notification of Basic Amount for Calculation is printed out in thousands of yen in the column concerned. For example, in the case of five hundred thousand yen, "500" is printed out.
 Health insurance and employees' pension insurance differ in the upper and lower limit of the amount of standard monthly remuneration.

"H) Number of basis days of payment" column number of basis days of payment refers to, the XXX number of days.
 For example, as for persons who receive a monthly salary, enter the number of calendar days, and as for persons, who receive daily wages, enter the number of days they have been at work. If the amount for the number of absences is deducted from the salary in the case of a person who receives a monthly salary, enter the number of days obtained by deducting the number of absences from the number of days stipulated in rules of employment, etc.
 * In this case, as the closing date is the 15th of every month and the payment date is the 25th of the said month, enter "31 days" for the period commencing on March 16 and ending on April 15, as for April.
