Let's Live in Kyoto. CHIZ
Real estate experts who are deeply familiar with the local areas tell you hidden charms in Kyoto.

Uzumasa Area

Malaysian chefs show brilliance in their profession with every dish being a masterpiece.
Wadihana is the only Malaysian/Halal restaurant in Kyoto.

It is eaten at Wadihana with two types of curry and the combination of being crackly on the outside whilst remaining springy in the middle creates a wonderful texture.

The price is 900 exclusive of tax

Opened in 2015, Wadihana is the only Malaysian/Halal restaurant in Kyoto.

I wanted Japanese people to eat good, Malaysian cuisine so I opened "Wadihana" in the old capital!

From the sauces to the bread, all the dishes are made to order and special attention is paid to the ingredients so that even those eating Malaysian Cuisine for the first time can enjoy it and want to go back again!

You simply must try the delicious, authentic Malaysian cuisine on offer at Wadihana.
