Company Outline

Green Carbon has a vision of "Save the earth with the power of nature" and offers comprehensive support for the creation, registration, and sale of carbon credits. In addition, we engage in agricultural-related businesses, research and development projects, and ESG consulting services. Notably, our main project focuses on generating carbon credits by reducing methane gas emissions from rice paddies. This project is the first and largest of its kind in Japan, with J-Credit certification for rice paddies (approximately 6,220 tons). We plan to expand this to about 50,000 hectares by 2024.

Furthermore, we offer a service called "Agreen" that provides a one-stop platform for credit registration, application, and sale, simplifying the procedures and document preparation required for credit application and registration, thus reducing the workload for credit creators. In Southeast Asia, we are primarily developing projects in the Philippines, Vietnam, and Thailand. In Vietnam, we already have a project underway on approximately 10,000 hectares of rice paddies.
