Project name

- Demonstration project for building a mobile-based regional and Japan-India cross-border telemedicine network and a new platform business utilizing the network.

Cooperation with local companies/governments

- Local partner: Takshasila Hospitals Operating Private Limited (Sakra World Hospital)
- Details of cooperation and collaboration: Build a regional/cross-border mobile telemedicine network and monetize this network to be realized in collaboration with the above partners.

Local economic/social issues

- The number of doctors per 1,000 people is 0.77 (world average: 1.8), and medical resources are lacking. There are health disparities among regions also.

Details of demonstration

- Demonstration of the effectiveness of telemedicine collaboration networks utilizing communication apps between medical professionals.
- Demonstration of businesses (marketing business, surgical education business) in collaboration with pharmaceutical and medical device manufacturers, making secondary use of the above telemedicine network.

Expected outcome

- Early detection and treatment can be realized by the prompt consultation from small hospitals to center hospitals.
- It contributes to the market expansion for local manufacturers of medicines and medical devices.
